: : Dec. 3, 1875 THE RINGS.

See the swindlers with their rings, That a world of slush their nice manipulation brings! How they swindle, swindle, swindle,

As so silently they steal ! While the whiskey taxes dwindle. And the people's angers kindle, As to justice they appeal; Telling Grant An example's what they want, d they fain would put an end to all the Wick edness that springs From the rings, From the swindling and the stealing of the rings. Hear the clinking of the rings, Golden rings !

what pockets full of money their manipula tion brings ! How each swindler puffs and swells And his future he foretells. And each bloated rascal gloats

O'er his swag, All the pockets of their coats affed with bonds and coupons and with green back notes,

Like a bag! Oh, as rich as any king s the happy man who jobns a whiskey ring! How he fl'.ngs. As vain things, Casl and who, the money brings,

While he ju' pliantly sings Of the ric aness and the rareness Of the rings the greatness and the glory of the rings! M' irk the vengeance on the rings, Whiskey rings ! hat a tale of terror, now, the exigency brings How the frightened wretches slide, And in vain they try to hide! Too much horrified to speak. They can only shriek and shriek.

Out of tune; othed with cursing as with garments, for their wrath must find a vent; ach one threat'ning in his fury, those about the President:

Pleading guilty, guilty, guilty, Wishing that this blood was spilt, he Sees his fate and tries to face it, Knowing nothing can crase it, But it comes, and comes right soon; Oh, the rings! What a tale their capture brings Of despair!

'For want of water I am forced to drink water; if I had water, I would drink wine.' This speech is a riddle, and here is the solution. It was the complaint of an Italian vineyard man after a long drought, and an extreme-WY of the best quality, for the home all his grapes.

'My dear boy,' said a found aunt COTTON PLOW LINES, all sizes you know that in leading this irreguto a very fast living nephew, 'don't lar life you are shortening your days? It's quite possible, was the cool reply, that I may be shortening my days, but then look how I lengthen my nights!

A Good Invention.

The editor of the Rome (N. Y.) Sentinel has been shown a 'design for an upholstered front gate which seems designed to become popular. The footboard is cushioned and there is warm soapstone on each side, the inside step being adjusted so that a short girl can bring her lips to the line of any given moustache without trouble. If the gate is occupied at 10:30 P. M., an iron hand extends from one gate-post, takes the young man by the ear, turns him around, and he is at once started home by a steel foot.
